

EDUCATION SILOS

LPI's educational programs are categorized into three "silos" that house our various classes, webinars, and multi-week courses.

In keeping with California's recent requirement regarding technical competency for attorneys and their staff, we've got you covered when it comes to legal technology training. The Legal Technology Silo classes include training in Microsoft Word, Microsoft Outlook, Microsoft PowerPoint, Microsoft Excel, Adobe Acrobat, Best Authority, tips and tricks, and more.

LPI's Continuing Legal Education Silo covers the gamut when it comes to procedural and training topics. Taught by attorneys, legal experts, and court officials, these webinars, workshops, and live seminars are FREE to LPI members. Sample topics include: Real Estate 101; How to Communicate with an Attorney; Writ Procedures; Changes in the Law; etc. Whether you're a beginner or a seasoned professional, there's something for everyone.

Our multi-week study courses fall under the "LPI University" Silo. These courses are part of a progressive educational track designed to address the training needs of the beginning legal professional all the way up to the seasoned legal professional. Each course uses a textbook, requires the submission of homework, taking quizzes, and the completion of a final examination. Some courses are administered in real time, via Zoom; others are offered in an online, study-at-your-own-pace platform. Students who successfully pass the course are provided with a certificate of completion.
